CFUW K-W CHARITABLE FUND

"I was honoured to receive the 2011 Parry Michael Zehr Memorial Award. I would like to thank everyone involved with this award for the opportunities it has opened for me. I am pursuing my study of the violin in university and your donation will help to fund my education. Music is a universal art, beloved by people all over the world, and I thank you for allowing me to have the chance to share such a gift."

Chloe Giannopoulos

K-W Youth Orchestra Violinist

Recipient of the 2011 Parry Michael Zehr Memorial Award/Marion Schweitzer Fund

The Canadian Federation of University Women, Kitchener-Waterloo Charitable Fund (CFUW K-W Charitable Fund) was established in 1985 as a registered charitable organization to cultivate excellence in public education in Canada and to encourage the higher education of women.

CFUW Charitable Fund manages nine endowment funds. Revenue from these funds provides twenty-six awards (including the George G. Blackburn Award/Edna Staebler Fund*), scholarships and bursaries given out to high school students, undergraduate and graduate students in Kitchener-Waterloo. There is also one national award given to a graduate student at a recognized university anywhere in Canada.

In 2010-2011, $ 25,400 was distributed, providing many students with recognition and financial support.

The funds that finance these awards depend upon the generosity of members and the public at large through individual donations and from such fundraisers as the annual Used Book Sale.

When renewing your membership please consider supporting the CFUW K-W CHARITABLE FUND and make a donation to enrich someone's life. Receipts for income tax purposes will be issued.
